Dear Dr. Mannis:

I just wanted to take some time to thank you and your staff for all of your guidance and tutelage. After becoming diagnosed with Adult ADHD, I was extremely overwhelmed. You, your staff and the resources of The Mannis Foundation helped me create strategies and ways in which to manage, cope and morph this disability into an asset. The active reading strategies, newly discovered learning style and personal attention helped me to gain admission to New York University this Fall for my graduate business studies. Upon graduating from undergraduate, I was thankful to be done with school and studying. Through working with you and The Foundation, I learned to enjoy studying again and was able to find a Masters program to fit my interests and learning style.

I honestly cannot thank you and your team enough for all the work we've accomplished together. I look forward to putting my newly acquired skills to use in the business world and hope to one day be able to give back to The Foundation for all that it has given to me.

Best,

J.
